

SOCIAL MEDIA

June: Week 1

(Image: photo of boy giving a high five)

(File Name: Q2 Connect Kit Social Media - June - Week 1.jpg)

Your child may not be a hugger and that's okay. Giving a hug should be their choice. Support your child by offering other ways to connect, such as a high-five or fist bump!

Learn more about teaching toddlers about consent at:

<https://www.zerotothree.org/resources/2987-high-five-or-hug-teaching-toddlers-about-consent>

#123connectwithme #hug #highfive

Tag: @zerotothree

June: Week 2

(Image: photo of Elmo from Sesame Street)

(File Name: Q2 Connect Kit Social Media - June - Week 2.jpg)

Hugs are a great way to connect. In the morning, take 20 seconds to cuddle your child with a good morning hug. This is a great way to start the day and show your love.

Do you want a hug? Get a virtual one from Elmo on Sesame Street at:

<https://www.sesamestreet.org/videos?vid=26416>

#123connectwithme #hug #elmo #sesamestreet

Tag: @SesameStreet

June: Week 3

(Image: "Hugs connect us. Hugs can heal. Hugs can help children grow." graphic)

(File Name: Q2 Connect Kit Social Media - June - Week 3.jpg)

A hug is a way to communicate your love, care, and concern. Hugging your baby or toddler is a great way to comfort them when they are feeling disappointed, frustrated, tired or are physically hurt.

Learn more benefits of hugging in this article at:

(insert link to "Hugs connect us. Hugs can heal. Hugs can help children grow." article on your website)

#123connectwithme #hug #hugsmakeeverythingbetter

June: Week 4

(Image: 123 Connect with Me pigs hugging graphic)

(File Name: Q2 Connect Kit Social Media - June - Week 4.jpg)

Hugs are a great way to connect. In the morning, take 20 seconds to cuddle your child with a good morning hug. This is a great way to start the day and show your love.

#123connectwithme #hug #morninghugs